School Report.

In presenting you with the report of the schools, for the past year, I will be brief. We have maintained six schools in town, the scholars being brought from the Payne district to Quincy, and from Doe Town to the village, as last year, with the exception of two pupils being taught at home by Mrs. Amelia Wright.

In some cases we have been unfortunate in securing teachers, while in others, quite the reverse, and our greatest failures were with those who were highly educated and well recommended.

Still our good success in the others we think will atone for the failures; and on the whole, we feel very well satisfied that so much has been accomplished. It is not only essential that we secure teachers competent to impart book knowledge, but to maintain efficient discipline. None will deny that proper school government is of the very first importance.

A most serious question then is, does the whole responsibility of securing such government rest wholly on the teacher? Can not parents do something to promote this end by co-operating with the teachers? At all events, let it be a principle that, so long as the child is a member of the school, his thorough and uniform obedience to the school authority shall be insisted upon.

It is somewhat surprising, that some parents take so little interest in the education of their children that they can not find time to visit the school. I find that in one district only one parent has visited the school during the year.

Parents should visit the school and encourage the teacher, and follow their children with their sympathies in their daily tasks.

Our schools are the making of the rising generation for future usefulness. The children in these schools are soon to fill our places; and whether with honor or dishonor, depends largely on the training we give them,

School No. 1.--Grammar.

Teacher of the summer term, Miss S. Jennie Heald. This was Miss Heald's first experience in teaching. Although possessing a fount of knowledge, and large enough in avordupois, has not energy enough to make a successful teacher.

The fall term was nearly a blank. Mr. Wm. A. Hudson, the teacher, came highly recommended. He was not lacking in education, but we should advise him to use it in some other occupation. We closed the school at the end of the eighth week.

For the winter term we were very fortunate in securing the services of Miss Daisy M. Dearborn, who is a first-class teacher. The order was as near perfection as could be asked. She is a worker and possesses the faculty of keeping every scholar busy and the school is once more in a prosperous condition.

Primary.

This school has been under the instruction of Miss Etta C. Pease for the year. Miss Pease not only has the desire to instruct the pupils, but has a rare faculty of imparting her knowledge to others. She has labored hard and given good satisfaction to all.

No. 2.

The summer term was taught by Miss Ardelle J. Buzzell, with good results. Order good and progress all that could be required.

The fall and winter terms were taught by Miss Julia E. Cutting, who is one of our best teachers. She labors hard and faithfully for her scholars. The examination at the close showed the results of interest and hard labor on the part of both pupils and teacher.

Nos. 4 and 5.

This school has enjoyed the services of Miss Mary E. Pillsbury for two years. In any school of good, bright scholars, with Miss Pillsbury as teacher, there can be but one result. This is a good school.

No. 7.

The summer and fall terms were again under the instruction of Miss Minnie J. Kelley, who seems perfectly adapted to this school, giving perfect satisfaction to all. The winter term was taught by Miss Dora Ames. The school was not a success, not wholly on the part of the teacher. Although not possessing the qualifications for a teacher, she seemed to labor hard but could not overcome the prejudices of others and lacked order. The teacher resigned at the end of the fifth week.

No. 8.

The summer and fall terms were taught by Miss Georgia A. Holden, with good success. Miss Holden labored most earnestly for the good of the pupils, and gave general satisfaction.

The winter term was under the management of Miss Grace M. Dearborn, who is well educated and seemed perfectly at home in the school room. The school closed on account of the sickness of the teacher. I understand she gave perfect satisfaction.

Respectfully submitted,

J. W. QUIMBY.
